Child Abuse Under Investigation in Spartanburg

SPARTANBURG COUNTY, S.C. — On September 26, 2026, just after 2:30pm, deputies with the Spartanburg County Sheriff's Office responded to a residence in the 1400 block of Bud Arthur Bridge Rd in reference to checking the welfare of the children.

Investigators have now charged 35-year-old Taylor Gosnell with two counts of Attempted Murder. It was determined that during the night hours before the Sheriff's Office was made aware of this incident, Gosnell had attacked her two children, 3 and 6-years-old, with both a knife and a blunt object.

Gosnell was booked into the Spartanburg County Detention Facility just before midnight. She will go before a judge for a bond hearing today, September 27, 2026, at 2:00pm at the Detention Facility.

Both children have been hospitalized but are in stable condition and are expected to recover from their injuries.

This remains an active investigation and available information is limited. More information will be provided when it is available.
